Enjoy the 'rustic sophistication' of a quality market

Lourensford Harvest Market spokesperson

THE newest must-visit spot in the Western Cape is definitely the Lourensford Harvest Market. The market is situated on the Lourensford Estate in Somerset West. The combination of this renowned, scenic wine estate with the rustic sophistication of a quality market, is exactly what makes this a destination and not just your average market.

The Lourensford Harvest Market only opened in October last year and it already rated number four on Cape Town's Inside Guide – what an accomplishment. Our 76 stall spaces in the custom-built market space are all filled with a family of amazing vendors. We pride ourselves on a variety of fresh produce, delectable food and a wonderful array of art and handmade goodies. You will only find the best-quality goods around here.

The market trades every Sunday from 10am to 3pm, and we invite you to come get your slice of the good life.

We offer something for everyone, whether you want to eat lunch or shop for speciality products. Or if you just feel like a lazy Sunday afternoon under the majestic oaks sipping on ice-cold estate wine. You can even bring the whole family for a jolly outing, as we have a variety of children's entertainment and live music every week.

And don't forget about our home-brewed craft beer from Abru or the art gallery next door.

Entrance is free and doggies and cyclists are most welcome too. Don't miss out on the one-of-a-kind Lourensford Harvest Market.
